HOME LIFTS

Wheelchair users and people with restricted mobility can benefit greatly from having a home lift installed. Domestic Wheelchair Lifts can be installed in any home where the lift can travel vertically through an aperture in the ceiling to the room above.

When the lift is not in use it can be parked at either level leaving maximum living space available. The integral fire seal is effective when the lift is parked on either of the floors.

We now include the latest space saving lifts for the home. Although too small for wheelchairs, they can incorporate a folding seat or you can stand when travelling.

STEP LIFTS

Step Lifts have been developed as a relatively low cost option to give wheelchair users easy access where difficulties exist due to a change in level or the presence of steps. Models are available to rise directly over one or two steps or to be installed alongside steps.

The lifts are compact whilst offering a large platform area and shallow ramp for easier access and can be installed either internally or externally. Call stations and non slip flooring are standard features. Other options include an interlocked safety gate at the upper level and a key control system to prevent unauthorised use.

CHANGING PLACES CAMPAIGN

The Changing Places Consortium has launched its campaign on behalf of those people who cannot use standard accessible toilets. This includes people with profound and multiple learning disabilities and their carers, and caters for a wide range of disabilities.

Changing Places toilets need to be publicly accessible with enough space and have the correct equipment installed, which should include a height adjustable changing bench and a hoist.

Two of the four top supermarkets are currently incorporating changing places facilities in their new supermarkets, and plan to upgrade existing stores in the future.

Major shopping centres throughout the UK, including the Trafford Centre in Manchester are also following the initiative, this provides disabled people with the correct facilities and equipment to have an undisturbed day out.
